Is your child struggling with advocating for him/herself?
Does your child struggle to fit in with other kids?
Is your child being bullied?

At last! Help for children and parents on the critical issue of bullying.

Many children who struggle to navigate their social world also struggle with bullying. Communication Works (CW) is excited to offer specific groups to increase Social Thinking® and decrease bullying. Participants will learn how to identify bullying, minimize vulnerability, increase self-advocacy, and learn specific self-empowerment tools, including cyber strategies. These groups will be run by Sherri Patterson, M.F.C.C., and begin on Saturdays in February for six weeks. Groups will be tailored to the needs of participants and geared towards elementary and middle school students. Parent training included on a weekly basis.

Sherri will also be available for individual and parent support services on these Saturdays.
